Smaller by design. Deeper by purpose.

Midwinter is an intimate gathering where CTE professionals from secondary and postsecondary education come together for meaningful conversation, practical learning, and shared problem-solving.

You don't have to be a national expert or have all the answers. You simply have to have something worth sharing. Bring a practice that is making a difference. A challenge you've navigated. A partnership that is working. Your idea is worth sharing, and it could help another leader move forward.

Bring your experience. Share your work.
Move AZ CTE forward.
